

About Hart Endodontics

Hart Endodontics prides itself on its friendly, down to earth atmosphere. Our team likes to keep things casual, yet we are serious about providing you efficient, quality endodontic care. We utilize some of the most advanced endodontic technology available including a Global high powered microscope for visualizing even the smallest canals and Dexis digital radiographs to capture high quality images of your teeth.

Sean Hart, D.D.S., M.S.D. graduated with four degrees from Indiana University—B.S., M.S., D.D.S., and M.S.D.—as well as completed a general practice residency between his dental school and endodontic training. After completing his endodontic degree in 2003, he moved his family to Lafayette. Hart Endodontics opened its doors in November of 2005.

Dr. Hart belongs to several professional organizations such as the American Dental Association, the Indiana Dental Association, the local West Central Dental Society and the American Association of Endodontists.

Dr. Sean P. Hart, D.D.S., M.S.D.
